The 2021/2022 PGA schedule has yet to be announced. When it is, I will complete the above schedule to match the promised 35 events for the calendar year. There are currently 30 events listed. Some weeks have been missed out. Reasons being, they are either team events/clash with planned holidays/events of no interest to me (Olympics). The PGA Tour has dealt admirably with the Covid-19 pandemic, and I see no further issues as regards it shutting down again.

The cost will again be €100 for the year. I do think this offers excellent value for the amount of work put in. I hope others think the same! I did send the previews to quite a few (friends/family/Retweeters etc) extra people for free last term, but will look to avoid that this term. I also had plenty of deals during the term in 2020 to increase the subscriber base ahead of this year. I am confident that job is done now, so the flat €100 will be the rate for the year. I am relatively small fry in the world of 'golf tipsters' and hence it is rare my advice has much effect on the markets. This ensures most can get on at the recommended prices. With a little bit of effort!!
